Ceresini Selected as Deputy Warden BWCI

Dover- Delaware Department of Correction Commissioner Claire DeMatteis and Bureau Chief of Prisons Shane Troxler, announce that Scott Ceresini has been selected to serve as Deputy Warden of Baylor Women's Correctional Institution (BWCI) in New Castle effective July 21, 2019.

Deputy Warden Ceresini started his career as a Correctional Officer in 2004 and worked at both Howard R. Young Correctional Institution and James T. Vaughn Correctional Center, before being promoted to Corporal at the Sussex Boot Camp, serving as a Drill Instructor. He was then promoted in 2008 as a Correctional Sergeant, and later a Correctional Lieutenant at the Sussex Community Corrections Center (SCCC). During his tenure at SCCC, he served as an officer in charge of both the work release center and violation of probation center, shift commander, ACA and PREA Compliance Manager, and Security Threat Group Coordinator.

Ceresini continued to rise through the ranks until most recently promoting to Correctional Staff Lieutenant and serving in the capacity of a Unit Commander for Morris Community Corrections Center. He also functioned as their Security Threat Group Coordinator and participated in the Bureau of Community Corrections policy committee.

Deputy Warden Ceresini has completed several correctional and other related training including Train the Trainer, Firearms Instructor, Working with Women, and DSP Interview and Interrogation Techniques, and has attended over 100 hours of Professional Development in Security Threat Groups. Ceresini also brings over six years of active duty service with the United States Army.
